French Premier Flies To Algeria

PARIS (AP) — Premier Michel Debre flew to the battleground of Algeria Tuesday on a trouble-shooting mission for President Charles de Gaulle. While he was en route, anti-Gaullist Frenchmen were reported spreading their insurgent battle barricades from bloody Algiers to the big port city of Oran.

Twenty-four French settlers and police were counted dead in the Sunday fighting at Algiers. There Debre is expected to try talking the insurgents out of their street barricades without yielding on De Gaulle's moderate policy for Algeria.

Shortly after he left Paris, insurgents in Oran were reported to have erected barricades on the Avenue General le Clerc, the city's main street. No hostilities were reported.

In Algiers the army was poised before street defenses put up during riotous Sunday demonstrations.

Contact Insurgents

One of the man-high barricades in Oran was made of paving stones and cars similar to those erected in Algiers. Another was formed by two vehicles. Government officials in Oran were in contact with the insurgents and both sides were said to be hoping to avoid armed clashes.

There was no indication how many persons were involved in the Oran action, the first serious disturbance reported outside of Algiers since the current trouble started last Saturday. Oran is about 250 miles west of Algiers, the center of the disorders.

From 1,000 to 3,000 insurgents defied martial law and warnings to lay down their arms behind barricades of paving stones and barbed wire in the heart of the city.

Election Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a bill broadening and tightening controls on the financing of congressional and presidential election campaigns. Passage was by roll call vote, 59-22.

The measure goes far beyond present law in requiring reports disclosing where candidates for federal offices get campaign funds and how they spend the money.

It also provides new legal limits on expenditures in congressional and presidential races and prohibits individuals from contributing more than $10,000 a year to federal election campaigns.

The bill, revising the 35-year-old corrupt practices act, now goes to the House. The outlook for passage there, particularly in the measure's present form, is regarded as dim.

Housing Bill Meets House Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats ran into solid administration opposition Monday in their drive for quick enactment of a billion-dollar emergency housing law.

Chairman Albert M. Rains (D-Ala) of the House Banking subcommittee on housing said rising interest rates on federally-insured mortgages are depressing home building and colliding with the usury laws of some states.

But Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, leading a trio of President Eisenhower's top housing aides to the opening of hearings on the measure, retorted that a big infusion of federal dollars would be inflationary, unnecessary, and costly to taxpayers.

Not Acceptable

To make it clear that Eisenhower—who vetoed two housing bills last session for economy reasons—is against the new proposal, Mason said: "I have been authorized to advise that the enactment of the bill would not be in accord with the program of the President."

Rains forecast a substantial decline in housing this spring unless the government pumps credit into the Federal Housing Administration and GI-loan programs.

Man Dies In Blaze

EASTON (AP) — One man was killed and another seriously injured in a fire that gutted the second and third stories of their boarding house here Monday night.

Dead was Furmann Poff, 79, Coroner George P. Kametz said he died of second degree burns and inhalation of smoke and hot air.

Treated at Easton Hospital for second degree burns on the face, neck and hands was John McGarry, 74.

Firemen said the cause of the blaze was a kerosene burner on the second floor of the three-story, frame building.

Commission Mum On CAS Controversy

MONROE County Commissioners yesterday remained silent on any new developments concerning their relations with the Children's Aid Society, preferring, as it later developed, to let the society fire the next salvo.

Conducting their bi-weekly session, the Commissioners — Chairman John Lesoine, Willard Quick and Stanley Rader — refused to say whether they had received any information from the society.

Statement Awaited

Although questioned at some length about further developments by the members of the press present at the meeting, none of the three commissioners would reveal that any information had been received by them.

Lesoine later reported he had remained silent about receiving the statement from CAS since he had told them during a meeting Sunday he would let their unit release the information first.

During the meeting, Mrs. Rose Shoch, Snyder'sville, appeared and asked the commissioners to exercise their best judgment concerning their dealings with the CAS.

Mrs. Shoch said the society was needed by the residents of the county, and said the matter had been extended to every Monroe County home.

Rumors Denied

During the meeting, Chairman Lesoine said he had heard reports that a petition was presently being circulated by Mrs. Walter McClelland asking for the recall (dismissal) of Commissioners Quick and Lesoine.

Mrs. McClelland later told Daily Record that this was not true. She said she knew of no such petition, nor did her husband, a member of the board of directors of CAS.

It was announced that while no statement on the Commissioners-CAS dispute would be issued by the Commissioners yesterday, some definite word might be forthcoming during Thursday's meeting.

The commissioners had gone into executive session about one-half hour before their scheduled starting time of 10 a.m. and remained closeted until 10:15 a.m.

Kennedy Launches Drive For Delegates

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) predicted Monday that no Democrat will be elected president who has not run in one or more state primary elections.

Kennedy made the statement as he kicked off his own drive for the Democratic nomination in New Hampshire.

He hammered hard in a series of formal and informal speeches at the importance of state primaries. He said he regretted that other Democratic candi-

Two Agencies Not Feasible, Society Feels

FOLLOWING yesterday's regular meeting of the Monroe County Commissioners, the Children's Aid Society issued a news release pointing out the present position of the society.

It was also reported yesterday that the society will move from its present office in a county-owned building on Sarah St. to two rooms in Christ Episcopal Church.

Rev. Charles A. Park, rector of the church, said the society would move its files and equipment this week.

The case work of the society, the news release says, will be turned over to the County Institutional district during February.

The release says:

Miss Diana Barrymore Dies At 38

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Diana Barrymore, 38, heiress to one of the greatest names in the American theatre, died in her apartment Monday, apparently of natural causes.

She was the daughter of the late John Barrymore and Blanche Oelrichs, who wrote poems and plays under the pen name of Michael Strange. The acting tradition in Miss Barrymore's family extended back four generations in this country and England.

Drink Takes Toll

Miss Barrymore began life in luxury, and while still in her teens seemed destined to become a star in her own right. But drink and degradation took a fearful toll and cost her both career, beauty and fortune.

A maid found Miss Barrymore dead in bed about 4 p.m. at her apartment on E. 61st St. The cause of death was to await an autopsy at Bellevue Hospital. But her physician, Dr. Coulter Rule, said she apparently died of natural causes.

Three times Miss Barrymore was married—to actor Bramwell Fletcher, to tennis professional John Howard and finally to actor Robert Wilcox. All three marriages were incredibly wild. The first two ended in divorce. Wilcox died in 1955 aboard a train.

Tyson, Jr., enabled local citizens of Monroe County to establish a branch office, later incorporated as a full-fledged separate agency and affiliated with the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania, it regrets the termination of such a well established voluntary service; however, its Board of Directors at its meeting today unanimously agrees with the action of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County that at this time, the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania wishes to pay special tribute to the president, Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, and each member of the Board and to the staff for their gallantry under fire and their devotion to the plight and the requirements of the children and families of Monroe County who have needed their agency."

No Race Tracks Likely By '60 Season, Says Chairman

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chairman of Pennsylvania's newly created Harness Racing Commission Monday voiced doubt that any parimutuel tracks could be built in time for the 1960 season.

But Lawrence B. Sheppard, 62-year-old veteran breeder of top harness racing horses, was optimistic about the possibility of holding county referenda in the April 26 primary on whether to legalize parimutuel wagering at trotter tracks.

Sheppard talked to newsmen shortly after Gov. David L. Lawrence appointed him to head the unsalaried, three-man commission. Others named were Edward J. Kane, Philadelphia construction executive, and Atty. Martin J. Cusick, Sharpville, Mercer County.

Their appointments are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Sen. Robert Fleming, chairman of the Senate Executive Nominations Committee, said he anticipated no opposition to the appointments.

Sheppard, a Republican, was asked whether Democrat Lawrence had discussed any possible track locations with him or given him any kind of advice before his appointment.

"The only thing the governor told me was that racing must be kept above reproach in Pennsylvania and I agree wholeheartedly with that," Sheppard replied.

Sheppard has been affiliated with the sport of harness racing most of his life. He is vice president of the Hambletonian Society and a past president of the United States Trotting Assn.

Hanover Farms

He also is president of the Hanover Farms and Hanover Shoe Co. in York County.

During a nearly hour-long interview, he answered a barrage of questions from newsmen frankly and without hesitation.

Asked whether he thought the nonracing backgrounds of the two other prospective commissioners might be a handicap, Sheppard replied:

"If they are good, honest, able and sincere men, the inexperience (in harness racing affairs) won't be a handicap." He added he wasn't opposed to politicians having a hand in promoting harness race tracks.

Possible Sites

Sheppard said that while he hasn't discussed possible locations with anyone, he believed both the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas could easily support parimutuel tracks.

He expressed a personal belief that voters would approve tracks in these two areas. He added he wasn't familiar enough with the Erie and Scranton-Wilkes-Barre areas to say whether they could support tracks.

Under the 1959 law, a limit of four tracks is allowed in any one year.

Nixon Entered In Primaries

Democrats Elect 42 Delegates

HARRISBURG (AP) — The nation's first large block of Democratic presidential delegates was chosen in Pennsylvania Monday. The unanimous election of 42 delegates-at-large by the Democratic State Committee was capped by Gov. David L. Lawrence's reiteration that most of the state's 81 votes would remain uncommitted until convention time.

Only one of the delegates — Speaker H. G. Andrews of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives — has strayed from Lawrence's position. Andrews has come out for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Half Vote Each

Pennsylvania's potent 81 votes at the Los Angeles convention next July equals California's representation and is exceeded only by New York's 114. Only Alaska has picked its delegates so far.

Delegate List On Page 8

The 42 delegates-at-large each will have a half vote. The remainder of the delegation will be picked by the voters on a district basis in the April 26 primary. These 120 district delegates also will have a half vote each.

Pennsylvania Republicans won't elect their first delegates until mid-March.

Lawrence told the cheering state committee that he expected Pennsylvania, in 1960, to land in the Democratic presidential column for the first time since the Franklin D. Roosevelt sweep in 1936.

Two-Party State

"I feel very sanguine about Pennsylvania," he said. "We have definitely become a two-party state."

The 70-year-old chief executive pointed to his own election in 1958 — the first time a Democrat followed another in the governor's chair since the Civil War — as evidence of his optimism.

The list of delegates-at-large comprises the top level of the party leadership in the state.

The Democrats also nominated Robert M. Meyers, a Lewistown, Pa., borough councilman, as the candidate for the seat of Rep. Richard M. Simpson, Simpson, who died Jan. 7 after a brain operation, had been chairman of the GOP National Congressional Campaign Committee.

Endorsement Meeting

John S. Rice, Democratic state chairman, said the party's policy committee would meet in the next week or two to endorse candidates for auditor general, state treasurer and Superior Court judge.

Republicans already have given organization support to Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith and State Treasurer Robert F. Kent for a switch of offices. Neither can succeed himself under the State Constitution.

Walter Cites Justices As Red-Ignorant

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said Monday a "number of justices of the Supreme Court as well as highly placed policy makers in the executive branch of the government" do not or will not understand communism.

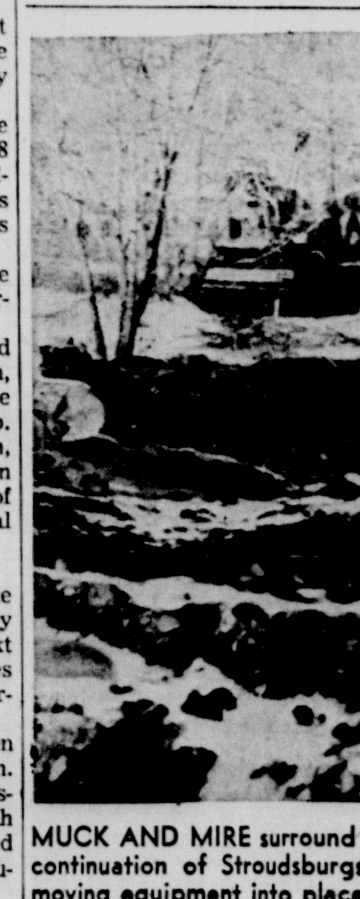

The chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee did not mention any individual by name in an address to the National Society of New England Women.

Walter said "an influential hard core in the leadership circles of this nation" does not "or will not understand that communism is communism, and that Communists are Communists."

Dear Abby

There Are Worse Names

Billy and Jimmy. They don't like to be called Bob, Bill or Jim.

Dear Abby: I am a 59-year-old man and I am beginning to wonder if some men will ever grow up. I am constantly meeting grown men with families who are still called by their boyish names, such as Bobby, Billy and Jimmy. They don't like to be called Bob, Bill or Jim.

One man down the street has eight children and they still call him Johnny. I can understand why a man wouldn't care to use the formal Robert, William or James, but why must they go back to their baby days with Bobby, Billy and Jimmy? I got this off my chest, but not off my mind.

Raymond

Dear Raymond: How do you know that men, who are addressed as Bobby, Billy and Jimmy prefer these names to

Bob, Bill and Jim? Most people are helpless in such matters. Acquaintances simply hang those names on them and they are stuck with them. Save your sympathy for those poor souls who are still called, "Sonny," "Buddy" and "Junior."

Dear Abby: Why does everybody knock television? As far as I am concerned, I think television has probably saved more marriages than anyone will ever know.

In my own case, television keeps my husband home nights. So what if he does drool when he looks at some doll spraying her hair? He can't get to her.

Also, when my husband and I don't have too much to say to each other, we can both sit there and pass the time away.

For TV

Dear Abby: Is it normal for a 17-year-old girl to like a fellow very much until she finds out he likes her, too? That's always been my problem. I can go out with a fellow and like him very much, but the minute he tells me he likes (or loves) me I don't care for him any more. This happens to every boy I go with. I am getting worried about my attitude. Please give me some advice.

Against Love

Dear Against: Your attitude is a symptom of adolescence. You like to play for fun, but when it looks as though you are going to play for keeps, you become frightened. With time and experience you'll overcome it. Don't fret about it.

Dear Abby: We have a little problem in our family and need some advice. My nephew (my brother's son) is going to marry a girl whose home town is in another city. They are planning a spring wedding. My brother insists that the girl should come to the boy's home town to get married. I think I read somewhere that the boy should go to the girl's home town for the wedding.

Waiting To Hear

Dear Waiting: The boy should go to the girl's home town to be married.

Civil Service's Birthday Observed At Signal Depot

TOBYHANNA—The seventy-seventh anniversary of the U.S. Civil Service was celebrated at the Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna recently with an award-luncheon during which 16 employees received checks totaling $945.

The Civil Service Act, which established the merit system in Federal employment, was signed into law by President Chester Arthur on Jan. 16, 1883. This week at Federal installations throughout the nation this event is being commemorated with banquets, luncheons and ceremonies of various types.

At the depot, Dr. Stephen F. Ryder, director of the Third U.S. Civil Service Region in Philadelphia, was principal speaker. He said the civil service system was "something of which to be proud. The original planners planned well and with high hopes. Those hopes have been realized."

"The civil service," he said, "is a live and growing thing. It is getting better and stronger all the time."

He stressed the importance of getting the civil service story to the public. "In that respect," he said, "your installation is doing a commendable job."

Award Presentation
Before his talk, Dr. Ryder assisted in the presentation of awards under the Army's Incentive Awards Program, as follows:

Sustained superior performance—Victor Sharrett, Stroudsburg, $200; Mrs. Loretta Cleary, Mt. Pocono, $150; Joseph Horvath, Mt. Pocono, $100; and Miss Hazel Bone, Scranton, $100.

Special act of service—Louis Naglak, Olyphant, $200. This was in addition to an earlier award to Naglak of $300 for the same service, an engineering project that helped the Army meet its rocket testing schedules at White Sands, N.M.

Government vehicle safe-driver award—James Scalse, Scranton, $25.

Beneficial suggestions—Joseph Horvath, Mt. Pocono, $65; James Soda, Duryea, $20; Richard Honeychurch, Wilkes-Barre, $15; Harry Nachlis, Plains, $10; Gerald Connor Sr., Pittston, $10; Alfred Graham, Scranton, $10; Napoleon Blount, Scranton, $10; Leroy Armstrong, Tobyhanna, $10; Ugelino Cicci, Jessup, $10; Thompson Hall, Peckville, $5; and John Wallace, Scranton, $5.

A ten-year length-of-service pin went to Gerald Freeman, East Stroudsburg.

Outstanding Ratings
Three employees who won outstanding performance ratings last year were introduced to the gathering. They are: Patricia Amos, Wilkes-Barre; Athena Anestis, Olyphant; and Thomas Swierczynski, Wilkes-Barre.

Edwin Durkhouse, Scranton, senior employee of the depot with 39 years service, had a place of honor at the head table.

Other honored guests included Howard Jackson, chief of the Examination Division, Third U.S. Civil Service Region, Philadelphia; Deputy Commander Lt. Col. Ed Edgerton, E. Moran, S. Sterling; Glenn Grubbs, Scranton, assistant to the commander, and Depot Chaplain (Capt.) Francis P. Patterson, Tobyhanna.

John F. O'Neill, Mt. Pocono, administrative officer of the depot's incentive awards program, presented the awards, assisted by Dr. Ryder and Lt. Col. Moran.

Truman J. Newhart, Mt. Pocono, civilian personnel officer, served as master of ceremonies.

Dale H. and Pauline G. Learn, Stroud Township, to Henry J. and Olga M. Rodgers, in trust for Bernard P. Rodgers, Southampton, Bucks County, lot in Pocono Township.

Rules For Safe Night Driving

SIX rules for safe night driving are suggested to motorists by the president of the Pennsylvania Optometric Association, Dr. Melvin D. Wolfberg of Selingsgrove, Pa.:

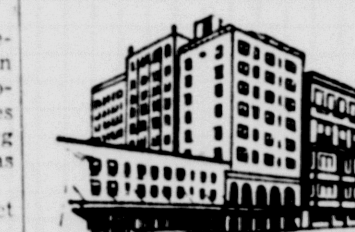

Take time to get used to seeing when leaving a bright place before starting to drive at night. Relax the eye muscles by looking about as much as safe driving permits. Never stare long in the same spot.

Protect the eyes from glare. Look to the side rather than at the source of the light.

At night, never wear sunglasses or tinted spectacles.

Keep spectacles, windshield and lights clean and free from surface damage.

Slow down.

Besecker Kills 'Cat' Near Skytop

THE ANNUAL Invitational Pocono Mountain Cat Hunt Classic was held Saturday near Skytop.

The hunt was successful with a kill of a bobcat weighing about 26 pounds being registered by Arthur Besecker.

Other hunters in the group were Stanley Van Vliet and Marshall Bonner.

The two dogs who finally treed the animal were Pocono Nell and Besecker's Jeffry.

The hunt took place west of Skytop in Pike County, and the dogs ran for about three and one-half hours before finally treed the cat.

Treed Cat

Besecker reported the dogs were barking in a swampy area, he investigated and found they had treed the cat in a hemlock tree.

Besecker shot the animal which then fastened itself to the tree limb before it died.

Besecker had to climb the 40 feet to the animal to bring it to the ground.

This was one of the few successful hunts in recent years, Van Vliet reported.

Half Million Dollar Suit

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A half-million-dollar lawsuit against industrialist Edward Lamb was reinstated Monday by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

A common pleas judge had dismissed the case.

Plaintiff in the action is Russell W. Brown, a Washington attorney who represented Lamb during Federal Communications Commission hearings from 1954 to 1957.

The suit against Lamb named him as an individual and as president of Dispatch, Inc., a Lamb-controlled firm which operates a television station in Erie, Pa. The FCC hearings were on renewal of the television station's license.

Brown claims the money represents fees owed him as a result of the hearings.

Unanimous

The election and the appointments were unanimous, Tucker presided at the meeting in the absence of Hughes.

One Sewer Authority In County

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Only one municipal sewer authority was in operation in Monroe County by 1958, the State Department of Internal Affairs said yesterday following a detailed county-by-county survey conducted earlier by the department and now finalized.

The large municipal sewer authority operating a plant in the county is the one in Stroudsburg — an authority listed as serving a total of 2360 customers comprising 2129 residential customers, 210 commercial establishments, 15 classified as industrial and six "public" facilities.

Investment in the sewer plant was listed as $709,000. Gross operating revenue was placed at $60,000 during the year while total operating expenses were noted as $30,000.

Net income for the Stroudsburg authority was listed as $9,000. Number of employees maintained by the authority—five.

Revenue received for the year by the authority was broken down as follows: revenue from residential billings—$14,795; commercial billings—$8,993; industrial billings—$1,532; public billings—$5,001.

So friends and neighbors come out and patronize this affair and have a big evening of fun and enjoyment and at the same time you will be helping a most worthy cause, the Monroe County March of Dimes Campaign—beneficiary of admissions.

March Of Dimes Minsirel Tabbed 'Evening Of Fun'

THE BENEFIT minsirel which is being conducted by the members of the Father Butler Council Knights of Columbus on Saturday night at the auditorium of the East Stroudsburg State College is nearing the perfection mark in the routine of rehearsals.

and preparation. The residents of the community are in store for a pleasant evening of refreshing "dry humor, fresh ground corn and just silly laughs," according to publicist Jim Murphy.

There are many specialty acts which are mingled with all the "crazy stuff" which will all go to make the evening fun well fitted for the most critical. And the dry-humorists in the audience will probably dry up and blow away just trying to hold back their begrudged laughs, he says.

On the program are a few well known local artists, such as: Bob Kranendonk, who will try to solo, that is if he can clear the towering height of Mr. Morning, John Meunier, and flying high Sally Ferrebee. My Mammy is the title of one of the smash hits... but after you hear it... you'll know you've been hit, and when Bony and Shirley show you the way of life... you'll wish that Elvis would never get out of the Army... Dick and Lorie with their tantalizing dance routine may not knock you in the aisle... but then you may like their singing. Murphy notes humorously.

And for those among you who need your heart strings tuned we have a young heart string tuner, OH ELLEN, can she turn on the charm. And if you go home and try to imitate Freda you will then be a qualified tender for Arthur Murray Dances... and if you believe that "Skinny" is so, then brother you've had enough.

So friends and neighbors come out and patronize this affair and have a big evening of fun and enjoyment and at the same time you will be helping a most worthy cause, the Monroe County March of Dimes Campaign—beneficiary of admissions.

Tickets are on sale in the both boroughs at Community Jewelers and Quick's Restaurant in Stroudsburg and at Counterpane's Drug Store and Jack's Market in East Stroudsburg.

Remember, go out Saturday night to the Minsirel, tickets can be purchased at the door also. Murphy concludes.

Two Boys Injured Slightly As Vehicle Leaves Road

TWO CHILDREN were slightly injured yesterday when a car went off the road on King St., East Stroudsburg, and ran into the side of a house.

Herbert Possinger, 65, 131 Lee Ave., Stroudsburg, told East Stroudsburg Police he was proceeding north on King when, at the intersection of King and Williams Sts., his car hit a patch of ice and went out of control.

The car ran into an embankment, Possinger reported, and he then cut the wheels, drove back onto the street, went across the sidewalk, through an iron railing and struck the house.

The two children hurt before the car struck the house were Harold Van Buskirk, 13, and Lewis Everett, 10, who were walking home at the time. Van Buskirk lives at 45 1/2 King, while Everett lives at 199 King.

The Van Buskirk boy had lacerations of the face, while young Everett suffered a bruised hip.

The Everett youth, because of the injury to his hip, crawled about 18 feet from the point where the car struck him, to the place where he was found.

Both were taken to the Monroe County General Hospital where they were treated and discharged.

Possinger's car ran into the side of a house owned by Leona Mary and Roxy Fish, 24 King St.

The side of the house was damaged, and outside oil intake pipes, as well as oil-tank pipes were damaged. A hot-air register was also out of commission as a result of the crash.

The car traveled about 50 feet after the initial impact with the embankment.

Damage to the house was not estimated, but police said the car was damaged to the extent of about $150.

Possinger was not injured in the crash.

Investigating officers were Donald Quick and Richard Notz, who reported the investigation would be continued.

Gap To North

When completed, the highway will extend from the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission span near Delaware Water Gap to a point on existing Route 611 north of Stroudsburg.

The four-lane, limited access highway will be part of the federal interstate highway system and will be paid for on a basis of 90 percent by the federal government and 10 percent by the state.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

I wonder how many of the wars of history have been fought because a king had indigestion? How many great enterprises have been abandoned because at the critical moment somebody developed a cold in the head? How many hasty and ill-considered judgements have been made on an empty stomach?

The matter is of more than academic concern just now with so many people coughing, sneezing and breathing with their mouths open. And one of the symptoms of disease: call it virus, flu or the common cold, is a deep sense of depression.

"Isn't it a beautiful day?" carols a passerby. "Is it?" you ask listlessly looking with dull eyes at the sun shining, the snow sparkling, the wet spots shining blue and yet somehow not adding up to anything.

Now in the good old days when black was black and white, white; when there were good people and bad people; and matter was solid instead of a mass of whirling electrons, you could dismiss the depression by saying "I'm sick, that's why I feel this way."

But after large doses of psychosomatic medical talk you begin to wonder: maybe you're sick because you're depressed. Maybe the world really is the mess that it seems to be.

Maybe the real news is on the front pages after all. Miners buried in South Africa, children dying in tenement fires, martial law in Algeria, racial flare-ups in Durban, and on the local scene: accidents, bitterness and a total breakdown of communications between people who speak the same language, even with the same Dutch accent, but don't understand each other as well as if they had to use sign language.

In my brighter moments, I find comfort in the conviction that no matter how grim the world looks on the front page, the real news is made on the social page: In the announcements of births and engagements and golden weddings, in groups joining to work for PTA's or churches or March of Dimes or scholarship or just plain fun.

Right now, I wonder. Either the world or I had better get better pretty soon.

Invited To Home
The Past Presidents of the PO of A will meet at the home of Mrs. Muriel Hughes, 551 Main St., Stroudsburg, on Thursday night at 8, who has invited all of them to come for a social evening.

Original Research Papers Preserve Past In County's Historical Society Museum

One of the little-heralded achievements of the Monroe County Historical Society is the promotion of historical research by individuals in the community, preserving and presenting in usable form historical information which might otherwise be lost.

This year, for instance, the East Stroudsburg Junior Historical Society has made and presented to the Society, large poster maps of the Frontier Forts which were located in what is now Monroe County during the days of the Indian uprisings: Fort Hyndshaw, Fort Norris, Fort Dupuis and Fort Hamilton, as well as of Fort Penn, a fort of Revolutionary days.

Map Frontier Forts

The maps were made by Janet Cramer, Nancy Drop, Margaret Laubner and Joyce Gierend, students at East Stroudsburg High School.

"The Naming of Tannersville" is paper compiled and presented by Donald R. DeHaven.

"Normal School Memories, the First Forty Years", prepared by Alfred D. Sumberg at the Historical Society meeting last year, has also been entered in the historical library.

Dr. Robert Brown presented a copy of his original research into "The History of the Women of the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg."

Mrs. George Marsh has compiled and presented "Historical Notes of Mount Pocono."

"Two papers dealing with the historic church at Shawnee-on-Delaware have also been added to the library: "Presbyterian Church of Shawnee," 1931, by Rev. Albert C. Smith; and "Shawnee Presbyterian Church," 1926, Rev. Floris Ferwerda.

Also added to the archives is "The Poconos" written by Thomas H. Knepp, from which he drew the material for this year's Historical Society dinner.

Oriental Dishes Exotic But Practical Family Fare

By Cecily Brownstone
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor
So many cooks are interested in making Chinese dishes, What's the lure?

Interesting flavor, of course, but the short-order quality of the Chinese cuisine is also persuasive. Slicing and dicing ingredients for these recipes takes time, but once this preparation is done, many Chinese dishes may be cooked quickly at the last minute before serving.

Anyone who occasionally dines in Chinese restaurants has probably enjoyed Lobster Cantonese. It looks and tastes complicated, but it may be made from ingredients available in ordinary food markets.

Just one word about soy sauce; it varies in strength, depending on whether it is domestic or imported, so you may have to adjust the amount called for. Domestic soy sauce is usually not so strong as the imported.

The frozen lobster called for in this recipe is readily found in supermarkets. In testing the rule we used the South African tails — the variety with the rough shells that turn a ruddy reddish-brown when heated.

Cantonese Lobster

Ingredients: 5 or 6 frozen rock lobster tails (1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds), 1/4 cup salad (not olive oil), 1/2 pound ground lean pork, 2 large garlic cloves (peeled and crushed), 1/3 cup finely grated carrot (loosely packed), 1/3 cup finely diced celery, 1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 1/2 cups boiling water mixed with 4 teaspoons imported soy sauce and 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch mixed until smooth with 1/4 cup cold water, 1/2 of a large green pepper (cut into thin strips), 2 scallions (green onions) finely cut with green tops included.

Method: Thaw tails; with kitchen scissors cut away thin

Patou's Corset And Sex Open Eyes At Paris Shows

By NADEANE WALKER
Paris (AP) — If Jean Patou's show doesn't turn out to be the sexiest of the season, then Paris really has something to look forward to.

His sheath dresses are skintight, and his suits barely cover the knee. Hips are hippy. Decolletage is daring. The designer is full of tricks that put the accent squarely on sex.

The trade-mark of the collection, second of the spring season, is a corset cut that begins under the bustline and ends at the top of the hip. For the first time in a Paris high-fashion collection, the girls seem to wear no girdles.

When necklines aren't low down, they're draped up to bare a triangle below the bustline.

Bodies are slit to the waist in the back, and long skirts are founced and slit to the knee in front.

Creamy blonde colors and warm corals highlight the collection, which includes lots of linen, slim skirts, Shantung and crepes. Navy, pink, black, and white also are popular.

False two-piece dresses with matching short jackets or tunic-length coats make up most of the daytime clothes. It's hard to tell the suits from the dresses, for even these have blouses attached at the top of the hip. The corset-midriff cut is often belted and bowed above the waistline with a narrow band of the same material. False tunic effects are carried out in a similar way with a band above the knees.

There are some puff skirts in chiffon print, and a lot of low-cut black crepe sheaths with "femme fatale" written all over them.

Griffe's show Monday morning featured almost equally short skirts but a slightly lowered waistline. In the Griffe show many skirts were flared to a graceful, ladylike line. Collars were big and important, and coats and jackets had deep buttoning sleeves.

Just a few minutes ago (as I write this Saturday afternoon) three professional judges appraised our Wyckoff Art Show. The judges were Fred Andkjar and his wife, Helga, of Sparta, N. J., and Douglas Greenbowe, of Hamburg, N. J. Mr. Andkjar is a free lance artist and designer, a graduate of the Phoenix School of Design. He is a highly gifted fellow too, according to Mr. Greenbowe who should certainly know. Mr. Greenbowe studied at the Art Students League, is a member of the American Water Color Society and the International Institute of Arts and Letters, and a very excellent artist whose work is handled by the Milch Gallery in New York.

As for Helga, who is as pretty as any picture an artist might paint—she is a graduate of both the Newark State Teachers College, where she majored in art, and the Phoenix School of Design; has studied at Columbia under Don Kingman, and furthered her studies with Mr. Greenbowe.

All agreed that our 23rd annual show had brought to Stroudsburg a most fascinating collection of art. They admitted that judging was hard . . . but when pinned down volunteered that the awarding of prizes was not so much a matter of deciding between the artists as between the pictures those artists had submitted. For instance, in the case of George Sauer who won both first and honorable mention in the amateur class, it was a case of deciding which of his paintings was the best. Mr. Greenbowe thinks all of his work shows excellent basic training, instinctive talent, a great deal of force and a fine flair for color.

Second prize amateur went to Nancy Hebard for "Afternoon Memory." It is an abstract study which the critics adjudged as "fresh and spontaneous but knowledgeable, with a fine understanding of technique and a lovely clear, clean color." "It is a pattern more than a painting," they explained, "but this in no way detracts from its merit as a work of art."

Third prize amateur was awarded Adele Katz's still life, Number 122. This too, is of the modern school with, the judges pointed out, a hint of Oriental influence in the absolutely clear background. They admired the uncluttered perfection of arrangement, and most particularly the artist's bold, free strokes.

In the professional class "Lena Visiting the Bass Rocks" won first prize for Peter Heiden. "This," said the judges, "is a display of highly efficient technique portraying a mood of somber loneliness and yearning with a rather touching warmth." It has been a favorite with visitors to the Music Store gallery.

Jacqueline Cassen's "Foundry" won second prize. It is modern, free and airy, with a great spontaneity. "It could be made even a bit more forceful with heightened effect," Mr. Greenbowe suggested, "but it is pleasing, and an example of fine modern skill."

Elnora Hauser's "Mexican Dining Room" placed third, for its excellence of pattern, composition, and skillful use of black to accentuate dynamic, warm colors. She reminds one of Matisse in her approach, the judges felt, as well as having the outstanding qualities of several other artists, plus undeniable originality.

Honorable mention was given Edna Palmer Englehardt for her appealing water color, "The Old Swimming Hole," study of a homey bit of Americana which is actually quite a departure from her usual landscapes and flowers.

I approve the critics' selections whole heartedly, but I must say I saw nothing at all in Mrs. Hebard's prize winning selection until artist Sterling Strauser told me he thought the white forms were ducks. Later I asked four year old Elise Andkjar if she could explain this particular painting to me. "It is chickens," she promptly said. "There is a nest with a chicken on it," and, volunteered her brother Eric, "a duck from the back." NOW I DIG IT! As for Mrs. Hebard's other entry, "Playground," Elise saw children running, one trying to stand on her head, a pussy cat, and other forms galore. These I myself had seen. As a matter of fact, THAT painting would have been my choice.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1960
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Use common sense, control unruly emotions. This day has temptations and restrictions, but a fine Mars aspect can be helpful in work and business affairs. If vigor and aggressiveness are needed to put them over.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—A good period for practical matters, handling commodities for use in factory, home, for business needs generally. A well-planned schedule at the start of the day will be important, however.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Excellent Mercury influences now encourage mental work, creative ideas, promotion and the advancement of new ideas. Teaching, research, clerical work.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—Planetary aspects suggest caution in all things; be sensibly careful about health, property, finances. Benefits can be gained if you manage wisely, however.

July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—Same obtains for you as for most folks now; be careful in planning and executing your day's schedule. Don't quarrel. Smile and win confidence of others.

August 22 to September 21 (Virgo)—A good time for stock-taking, looking over your accounts and in general, finishing up loose ends. Think before acting!

September 22 to October 21 (Libra)—A new touch or twist added to your work could improve its quality. Consider the "what-ifs" that add "bite" to your work.

October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio)—This day has fine possibilities even though you may not accomplish all you would like to. Be carefully, steadily; meet opposition carefully, determinedly. Have faith!

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—You may be tempted to neglect what you should not; be careful, conscientious. Don't rush yourself or anyone else. This could be a profitable day for real estate or other good buys, but be sure and use your innate good judgment.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Improve, perhaps expand your work; make worthwhile tries, ventures—all within reason, of course. Work with your best assets and talents, without fuss or doubt. Aim high!

January 22 to February 21 (Aquarius)—This is a good period for you because it lends itself to thought, accurate planning and smart, if not "shrewd" management. Don't hanker after quick results; work for lasting returns.

February 22 to March 21 (Pisces)—November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—You may be tempted to neglect what you should not; be careful, conscientious. Don't rush yourself or anyone else. GOP Leader Says Caucus Agrees To Confirm O'Hara HARRISBURG (AP)—A republican leader said the Senate GOP caucus agreed Monday to confirm William F. O'Hara, Scranton, as a member of the Public Utility Commission.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan, assistant GOP floor leader, said O'Hara's appointment would be sent to the floor Tuesday and probably be confirmed immediately.

The action would give Democrats control of the five-member rate regulating agency for the first time since the mid 1930s. O'Hara's appointment has been bottled up in the Republican-controlled Executive Nominations Committee since last April 6.

O'Hara would replace Commissioner William Conly, a Republican, whose 10-year term expired last April 1. O'Hara, 40-year-old attorney, would serve 10 years, effective at the expiration of Conly's term. The post pays $19,000 a year.

One Republican spokesman, who declined quotation by name, said the Republican move is aimed at heading off a Democratic complaint that the GOP was stalling on the PUC appointments in an effort to prevent Democrats from taking control.

More than 200 patronage jobs are at stake in the PUC.

Republican members are Chairman Leon Schwartz and P. Stephen Stahlnecker. Democratic members are Joseph Sharfstein and Robert W. Anthony.

Shun Others

The Republican caucus did not act on major reappointments of Gov. David L. Lawrence that are still pending. They are Chairman John Bevec and Herbert McGlinchey, of the State Tax Equalization Board, and John A. Smith, of the State Milk Control Commission.

Pechan said they were not discussed.

Bevec and McGlinchey have continued serving in their posts. However, Smith had to leave his job Jan. 5 at the expiration of the 1959 Legislature.

As a result the three-member agency has been deadlocked on its milk-pricing orders between Chairman John K. Mahood, Republican, and Simon K. Uhl, Democrat.

Market Drops Sharply On 'Blue Monday'

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stumbled to another sharp loss Monday, its third straight "blue Monday." Turnover was sluggish.

An estimated $2,800,000,000 was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the Associated Press average.

Steels, motors and chemicals were outstanding losers. Key stocks dropped from fractions to 2 points or more. Among the higher-priced issues, Du Pont dropped 3, Motorola 5/4 and International Business Machines 8.

The Dow Jones industrial average slid 6.78 to 639.07, breaking below the 640 level.

Turnover Low

The volume of 2,700,000 shares compared with 2,600,000 on Friday. Turnover was low enough to encourage those who hold that any market move should be accompanied by big volume if it is a strong trend.

The AP 60-stock average fell $2.10 to $221.30 and was the sharpest since last Tuesday when the decline was $2.30. The industrials were down $3.20, the rails $1.30 and the utilities 70 cents.

Of 1,235 issues traded, 778 declined and 260 advanced. New lows for 1959 outnumbered new highs by 38 to 4.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally lower on volume of 1,270,000 shares compared with 1,130,000 Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in fairly active trading.

U.S. government bonds were off slightly in quiet dealings over the counter.

Volume mounted to $5,310,000 par value from five million dollars Friday.

Most Important

The most important item in the four House bills would authorize the administration to use up to 10 million dollars out of other appropriations for relief payments.

The administration expects the more than 300 million dollars (including federal funds) appropriated for relief during the 1959-61 biennium to fall as much as $1 million dollars short of actual needs.

Both House and Senate were in session only briefly as they ended a three-week recess that followed the opening of the 1960 session Jan. 5.

Republicans decided prior to the session to push for a recess after next week until June 6. The expressed purpose of the recess is to see if revenue in the first year of the biennium will exceed administration estimates enough to provide money for schools.

The administration emphatically rejected this idea last week and suggested the General Assembly adjourn just as soon as it passes the administration bills introduced Monday. That presumably would be next week.

An extended debate on the merits of adjournment versus recess is planned Tuesday in the House.

Other legislative developments: Highways—The House Highways Committee chairman accused Republican leaders of scuttling a plan to turn over some 400 miles of local roads to the state last session. Rep. Harry R. J. Comer (D-Phila.) promised this would be a campaign issue in 1960.

Confirmations

Confirmations—Senate Republicans decided at a caucus to confirm—probably Tuesday—William F. O'Hara, Lackawanna County register of wills, to the Public Utility Commission. It would put the rate-making agency into Democratic hands for the first time since the 1930s.

O'Hara's appointment has been held up for months. Confirmation of the three members of the State Harness Racing Commission also was expected next week.

Budget—The four administration budget bills were given quick approval by the House Rules Committee and sent to the floor where they were given preliminary approval.

Two Drown

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Two persons drowned, two bridges were washed away, and about 150 villagers were marooned as heavy weekend rains lashed the eastern section of this island.

"For the most part they have deep inferiority complexes that only disappear when they mix together. I estimate that 75 per cent of the beatniks—beat generation—on the North Beach smoke weed at some time or another."

Detective Finds Beatniks Lazy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five months of life among the beatniks—at marijuana parties, sex orgies and on robbery raids—were over Sunday for Robert Estes. He's shaved off his beard. He's taken shower after shower.

But the 29-year-old private investigator, credited by narcotics officers with providing the key for a roundup of 30 narcotic suspects, still doesn't feel clean.

"For my money, they're dirty, they're lazy, they're bums and they're crooks," said Estes, a handsome, crewcut Army veteran.

The First Official Missile Mail

Your receipt of this letter marks an historic milestone in the use of guided missiles for communications between the peoples of the earth.

It represents, too, the close cooperation of Secretary of Defense McElroy, the Department of Defense, and the Post Office Department in utilizing scientific advances for peaceful purposes.

A limited number of letters identical to this one were placed in the Regulus I Training Guided Missile on the guided missile submarine USS BARBERO (SSG-317) in this First Official Missile Mail experiment of the United States Post Office Department.

The missile was then flown at near the speed of sound from international waters of the Atlantic Ocean by the USS BARBERO while on a regular training mission.

After the Regulus I reached its destination, the Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Mayport, Florida, near Jacksonville, this letter was cancelled and forwarded to you as a significant philatelic souvenir.

The great progress being made in guided missilery will be utilized in every practical way in the delivery of the United States mail. You can be certain that the Post Office Department will continue to cooperate with the Defense Department to achieve this objective.

Letter was postmarked June 8, 1959, after being carried in nose cone of Regulus I Guided Missile in flight from submarine USS Barbero in Atlantic Ocean to Naval Air Station, Mayport, Fla. Lawrence Wheels Churn With Minor Budget Bills

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Lawrence administration started the 1960 legislative wheels turning with a package of minor budgetary bills submitted to the House Monday.

In the Senate, Philadelphia Democrats offered legislation to legalize bingo games—a proposal that was immediately tabled. The question is whether the 1960 session, restricted by a new constitutional amendment to consideration of taxes and appropriations, may take up the bingo issue.

A bill to allow the state to pay informers, accountants and lawyers for work in collecting unclaimed money drew the distinction of being designated House Bill 1. There were three other bills in the package, making technical changes in the governor's $1,830,000,000 budget.

Most Important

The most important item in the four House bills would authorize the administration to use up to 10 million dollars out of other appropriations for relief payments.

The administration expects the more than 300 million dollars (including federal funds) appropriated for relief during the 1959-61 biennium to fall as much as $1 million dollars short of actual needs.

Both House and Senate were in session only briefly as they ended a three-week recess that followed the opening of the 1960 session Jan. 5.

Republicans decided prior to the session to push for a recess after next week until June 6. The expressed purpose of the recess is to see if revenue in the first year of the biennium will exceed administration estimates enough to provide money for schools.

The administration emphatically rejected this idea last week and suggested the General Assembly adjourn just as soon as it passes the administration bills introduced Monday. That presumably would be next week.

An extended debate on the merits of adjournment versus recess is planned Tuesday in the House.

Other legislative developments: Highways—The House Highways Committee chairman accused Republican leaders of scuttling a plan to turn over some 400 miles of local roads to the state last session. Rep. Harry R. J. Comer (D-Phila.) promised this would be a campaign issue in 1960.

Confirmations

Confirmations—Senate Republicans decided at a caucus to confirm—probably Tuesday—William F. O'Hara, Lackawanna County register of wills, to the Public Utility Commission. It would put the rate-making agency into Democratic hands for the first time since the 1930s.

O'Hara's appointment has been held up for months. Confirmation of the three members of the State Harness Racing Commission also was expected next week.

Budget—The four administration budget bills were given quick approval by the House Rules Committee and sent to the floor where they were given preliminary approval.

Two Drown

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Two persons drowned, two bridges were washed away, and about 150 villagers were marooned as heavy weekend rains lashed the eastern section of this island.

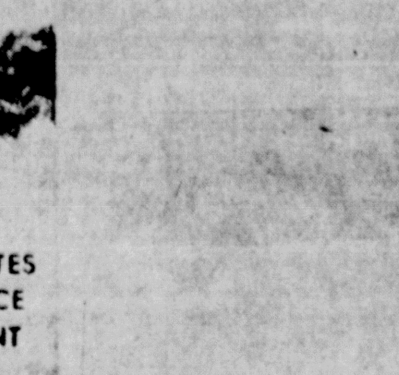

"For the most part they have deep inferiority complexes that only disappear when they mix together. I estimate that 75 per cent of the beatniks—beat generation—on the North Beach smoke weed at some time or another."

Detective Finds Beatniks Lazy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Five months of life among the beatniks—at marijuana parties, sex orgies and on robbery raids—were over Sunday for Robert Estes. He's shaved off his beard. He's taken shower after shower.

Your receipt of this letter marks an historic milestone in the use of guided missiles for communications between the peoples of the earth.

It represents, too, the close cooperation of Secretary of Defense McElroy, the Department of Defense, and the Post Office Department in utilizing scientific advances for peaceful purposes.

A limited number of letters identical to this one were placed in the Regulus I Training Guided Missile on the guided missile submarine USS BARBERO (SSG-317) in this First Official Missile Mail experiment of the United States Post Office Department.

The missile was then flown at near the speed of sound from international waters of the Atlantic Ocean by the USS BARBERO while on a regular training mission.

After the Regulus I reached its destination, the Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Mayport, Florida, near Jacksonville, this letter was cancelled and forwarded to you as a significant philatelic souvenir.

The great progress being made in guided missilery will be utilized in every practical way in the delivery of the United States mail. You can be certain that the Post Office Department will continue to cooperate with the Defense Department to achieve this objective.

'The Daily Investor'

Taxes On Dividends

By William A. Doyle
Q. My husband and I file a joint income tax return. I own some stock. When we file our Federal income tax for last year are we supposed to report the dividends I received as taxable income? Or are we supposed to report the whole value of the stock as taxable income?

A. Let's be thankful that you aren't supposed to report the value of the stock you own as taxable income. If that were the case, it's a cinch that nobody would own stock. Things are bad enough as they are. Don't try to make them any worse.

Cash dividends received from stock are taxable. But, to ease the bite somewhat, you are allowed a $50 "exclusion" and a four percent "credit." Confused? Read on.

The "exclusion" means that each stockholder does not have to report as income the first $50 of qualified dividends received in a year. For instance, if you received $200 in dividends in a year, you report only $150 as taxable income.

If your husband owns stock, he also can exclude $50 of the annual dividends he receives. Or, if you and he own the stocks jointly, you can exclude $100 of the annual dividends when you file a joint tax return.

The four percent "credit" means that you can deduct an amount equal to four percent of your taxable dividends from your tax bill.

That credit, however, is limited to four percent of your taxable income. This provision doesn't affect most people. But it does cut William A. Doyle down on the tax relief of those whose income is mostly from dividends.

The exclusion and credit do not apply to dividends from foreign corporations or to capital-gains distributions.

Q. It seems very wrong to me that investors have to pay income taxes on their dividends. Dividends are paid by companies out of the companies' profits. Doesn't this amount to double taxation?

A. Sure, it does. You summed it all up in a very concise statement. This is a favorite subject of this column — a subject well worth bringing up now that Congress is back in session.

Cash dividends paid to stockholders were not taxable until 1936. Then, a new law put a tax on dividends. This very unfair situation has been condemned by many responsible people ever since. But nothing was accomplished until 1954.

In that year, Congress passed the $50 dividend exclusion and the four percent dividend credit — easing the tax bite somewhat. Another result has been to make ownership of American industry, through investment, more popular.

That, of course, is a healthy thing for this country.

There is a continuing effort to do away with (or at least further reduce) the tax on dividends. All investors would naturally welcome that. Because there are over 14 million stockholders in these United States and because that number is increasing all the time, the voice of investors is getting attention in Congress. After all, stockholders are also voters.

Unfortunately, there is also pressure in the other direction. You can get a very complete explanation of this tax situation by writing to the New York Stock Exchange, 11 Wall Street, New York City. Ask for the booklet called "The Dividend Tax Credit."

You might even suggest that booklet as required reading to your Congressman and Senators.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

FUNERAL services were held Saturday at 11 a. m. in Washington, D. C., for Robert Coltman. Mr. Coltman spent his youth in China with his family. His father was a physician with the country. He returned to this country to attend Cornell University as an engineering major. "SUCCESS DEPENDS ON PREVIOUS PREPARATION"

To some, success means much money or outstanding accomplishment. To others achieving contentment is sufficient.

One thing is certain. It is difficult to enjoy any success without a healthy body. Just as you study to prepare your mind for success, you can also prepare your body. The first step is to visit your physician for a health checkup. Then place the future health of your body in his care. Follow his suggestions for diet or weight control. Take the sustaining or corrective medicines he may prescribe. You can prepare now for future better health.
